"This is top to bottom excellence."
~ Cathy and Frank White, Dec 2022

Pristine and Protected

Wakatobi is set within a UNESCO World Biosphere Reserve that encompasses one of the most bio-diverse marine ecosystems on earth. The coral reefs that surround the resort are home to thousands of rare and colorful species of marine life. These treasured sites enjoy the protection of a private, community-based marine preserve founded and funded by Wakatobi and embraced by the local community.

Personal Touches

During their stay, Wakatobi guests are hosted by a staff that takes pride in providing warm personal service and for anticipating needs before a request is spoken. A two-to-one staff-to-guest ratio ensures the highest levels of attention for each individual, and the range of bespoke services available includes personal dive guides, nanny services, private butlers and event planning for special occasions.

Removed But Not Remote

Wakatobi is far from city lights and other reminders of the outside world. But distance isn't an issue, thanks to direct charter flights from Bali to a private airstrip. During their stay, resort guests enjoy gourmet dining and iconic private accommodations that incorporate all the creature comforts of the modern world while also celebrating the region's cultural ambiance.

We put Wakatobi on the map

Until recently, there was no such place as Wakatobi. Historically, this region of central Indonesia's Sulawesi Sea was known as the Tukang Besi Archipelago. Lying some 500 miles east of Bali, these islands encompass some of the planet's most productive and pristine reefs and coastal shallows. As the resort's reputation grew, the Wakatobi name became associated with the surrounding region, leading to the eventual establishment of the Wakatobi Regency by the Indonesian government, and the creation of a new national park of the same name.

Easy Arrivals

Direct exclusive guest flights from Bali to Wakatobi's private airstrip eliminate the need for multiple air and land connections and trim travel time from days to mere hours. Following a restful overnight stay in Bali, this 2.5-hour flight provides generous luggage allowances, VIP transit lounge privileges, and includes all taxes and surcharges. Guests are met at our airport and transferred directly to the resort by way of a short van and boat ride, with staff handling all logistics of luggage transfer and delivery to their accommodation.

"The direct flight certainly influenced our decision to go to Wakatobi. The ease and speed of getting to the resort is superb, as is the reassurance that all your luggage will arrive at the same time as you do."

~ Kathy Beech, Jan 2023

VIP Meetings and Bali Concierge Services

From the moment they touch down in Bali, Wakatobi guests enjoy concierge-level assistance with all aspects of their vacation. Wakatobi representatives are on hand at the airport with VIP welcome services, which whisk guests past the lengthy queues at immigration while staff will handle baggage transfers and other details. Guests who choose to take a Bali stopover can further engage our concierge service to make all the arrangements for an enjoyable and fascinating few days before or after their Wakatobi trip. Private guides and drivers are available to transport guests to see towering volcanoes, emerald green rice paddies, Hindu temples, dazzling beaches or cultural dance performances. Bali also offers incredible value in art, furniture, silver jewelry, accessories, and tropical fashions.

A total vacation experience

While diving and snorkeling are star attractions at Wakatobi, there's much more for guests to experience and enjoy. The resort's garden-like setting provides a relaxing backdrop for a full range of recreational activities and programs.

An Ideal Location

Wakatobi is dedicated to providing each guest with the ultimate diving and snorkeling experience, whatever their interests and abilities. The resort's location was carefully chosen following an extensive search for the perfect site in terms of geography, climate, oceanic topography, and marine biodiversity. Diving and snorkeling programs are tailored to meet the needs and comforts of every user group and to ensure Wakatobi's future, our founders created the world's largest private, community-based marine park.

Pleasing Profiles

Wakatobi's underwater experiences can begin right off the resort's beach and include more than 40 unique venues located just a short boat ride away. The juxtaposition of blue water and coral shallows found at many of these sites creates stunning underwater landscapes, provides opportunities for long and relaxing multi-level dive profiles, and gives divers and snorkelers an equal opportunity to enjoy the shared aquatic environment.

Exceptional Service

Divers never lift a tank or set up their gear in Wakatobi, as all equipment is managed to the diver's preference. Cameras are carefully handled by the crew and given to divers once they are in the water. On returning to the boat the crew will change tanks, check gear and prepare it for the next dive. Snacks are served between consecutive boat dives, as well as drinks such as tea, hot chocolate, and water – the boat crew quickly learns each guest's preference. Fresh dry towels and mint-scented facecloths are always available.

Large, Comfortable Boats

Wakatobi operates a fleet of locally built dive boats designed for spacious comfort, safety, and stability both underway and at rest. Each of these vessels features large deck-level bathrooms and showers and fully shaded decks that provide every diver with ample personal space. Attentive crews are on hand to assist with water entries and exits. Each guest's personal dive gear is transferred to and from boats by the dive staff to ensure things don't get lost and are always within easy reach. A large, dedicated camera table and rinse station are located near the rear of the boats, while egress to and from the water is by wide side entry doors on both sides of the boat. This allows photographers room to assemble their gear without being in the way of other divers and snorkelers entering or exiting the water. An additional benefit of the side entry points is the separation from the boat's engine exhaust, which is far away in the stern.

The World's Best Shore Dive

Wakatobi Resort's House Reef has been named the world's best shore dive. This site is a favorite with guests, who discover a diverse wealth of marine life and underwater landscapes just a few fin strokes from the beach. The House Reef's drop-off is just 80 meters in front of the resort, making it easy for divers to make a wall dive followed by a shallow safety stop day or night. The site expands to both sides of the resort to encompass an area more than three miles in length that includes shallow grass beds, coral heads and slopes, wall sections, overhangs and ridges. The dive center provides a taxi boat service that allows guests to explore areas of the reef beyond normal swimming range from the resort.

"Wakatobi is a diver's paradise. I dived on the Wakatobi House Reef 17 times including 8 night dives. Each dive was unique and memorable due to an outstanding diversity of the marine life-the site is amazing."

~ David Karp, Oct 2022

Snorkeling

Wakatobi is an ideal environment for snorkelers and free divers. The House Reef is a vast expanse of shallow reefs and seagrass beds that offers a convenient and beautiful snorkeling venue populated with a myriad of marine creatures. In addition, many dive sites have exquisite shallow coral growths that are ideal for surface exploration. Snorkelers receive the same level of support as divers, including assistance with gear, fresh towels, snacks and camera support and in-water guide and monitoring services. All dive sites are rated for suitability for snorkeling based on the reef topography.

Exceptional Imaging Opportunities

Wakatobi offers the underwater photographer or videographer a wealth of imaging possibilities. Settings range from dramatic drop-offs, breathtaking coral gardens and pinnacles ideal for wide-angle shots down to havens for the minute and rare exotic marine creatures sure to please macro fanatics. The exuberant vitality of the reef systems, benign in-water conditions and professional support system means that each dive delivers ample opportunities to fill the viewfinders of every photographer from casual shooters to photo pros.

Advance Diving Support

Wakatobi's dive center serves air, nitrox, and rebreather users as well as snorkelers with comprehensive support facilities that include a full range of premium quality rental gear. The center operates state-of-the-art Nitrox Technologies membrane systems fed by multiple water-cooled Bauer compressors, and can provide oxygen concentrations to 100 percent. CCR divers with Trimix certification can take advantage of Trimix (HeliAir) diluents and bailout gases.

~ Sarah Bettie, May 2021

Private Dive Experience Program

Wakatobi's Private Dive Experience program delivers the ultimate in underwater freedom and discovery. This personalized guide service, tailored to the guest's wishes, enhances the diving and snorkeling experience by providing deeper understandings of marine life behavior, assisting the guest's underwater imaging, or guiding them through the unique experience of a Fluo-dive, which is complimentary for those taking at least four days with a Private Dive Experience guide.

Fluo-dive Experiences

The thrill of fluo-diving lets guests see the underwater world like never before. At night, special ultraviolet lighting causes fluorescent proteins in certain fish and corals to light up in glowing colors. Fluo-diving is a second-to-none experience that guests find amazing, all while revealing the underwater realm in a new and enthralling manner.

Activities and amenities

Resort guests can choose from a range of additional watersports and beach activities, pamper themselves in our full-service spa, or stay entertained with our media suite, high-speed internet services and library. Other activities include Indonesian cooking classes, workshops, village tours and nature walks. Sports activities include kitesurfing, kayaking and wakeboarding. Wakatobi is family friendly, with childcare services and a kids club.

"It's just you in nature, flying over this beautiful water of all different colors. Beneath you are stingrays, dolphins, turtles, and along the shore it's all white sand and palm trees."

~ Kiter Toby Brauer, May 2021

A total commitment to conservation

Wakatobi's Collaborative Reef Conservation Program is widely recognized as a pioneering initiative in self-sustaining, community-based resource protection. This initiative was developed by the founders of Wakatobi Dive Resort to provide a proactive means of protecting the reefs and marine resources.

A portion of the revenue generated from resort guests is shared with the local community to maintain and support a sustainable lifestyle that fosters stewardship and respect for the coral reef ecosystem. This program includes payments to local villagers and fishermen to honor a no-take policy on specific reef tracts, along with supplying an additional range of social and economic programs. Since the Collaborative Reef Conservation Program's implementation in 1997, the local village and surrounding communities have enthusiastically adopted the conservation plan. As a result, environmentally damaging fishing practices have ceased, and the reefs have remained in near-pristine condition, with some showing marked improvement. Wakatobi's private marine preserve now covers a 20-kilometer section of reef. In addition, this preserve is now part of the Wakatobi National Park, which is the second largest in Indonesia. In 2012 this area was designated a UNESCO Marine Biosphere Reserve.

Sea Turtle Protection

Wakatobi's beach has long been recognized as an important turtle nesting ground. Nighttime lighting along the resort's beach is minimized to encourage females to come ashore and lay their eggs. When a nest is identified, it is cordoned off and monitored to provide protection for the eggs, ensuring a greater number of hatchlings survive and return to the sea. It is quite common to see young turtles swimming along the reefs and the shoreline fronting the resort.

Supporting Local Communities

The resort provides electricity for the village on the island (population 500), and waste management services for villages on a neighboring island. Other ongoing programs include civic improvement projects for all 17 villages within the district and the sponsorship of schools with educational materials and sponsorships for orphans. To provide economic alternatives to destructive marine harvesting practices, Wakatobi sponsors a credit scheme for small businesses and employs up to 50 widows from the local village to create natural roof tiles for resort buildings.

Pelagian Wakatobi's dedicated dive yacht

The Pelagian dive yacht cruises to sites in the Tukang Besi archipelago beyond the scope of other dive operations. Guests enjoy an intimate atmosphere with the personalized service and exclusive amenities of a world-class motor yacht.

Pelagian's spacious salon is complemented by a refined dining area, modern media center and dedicated camera workroom, while several open and shaded deck areas offer additional space for privacy and relaxation. At 36 meters / 115 feet in length, but carrying a maximum of just ten guests, Pelagian offers more space per guest than any dive yacht of its kind.

Personal Attention

With just ten guests served by an experienced international crew of 12, including a master chef, Pelagian offers a setting that is upscale and intimate. The crew is able to provide each guest with appropriate attention, no matter if they are a first-time cruiser and snorkeler, or a seasoned dive traveler who appreciates value and excellence.

Dive Support

Pelagian is well suited for divers and snorkelers of all skill levels. Dives take place from custom-built, twin-engine tenders, providing comfortable and short rides to each site. The Dive Experience Managers and crew handle all logistics of equipment and cameras, and provide full in-water support. Additional technical diving support can also be arranged for guests.

Customized Itineraries

Cruise itineraries are built around guests' preferences, generally with four dives of up to 70 minutes, including night dives. Each is a rewarding experience – from the Mandarinfish at Magic Pier to the shrimp breeding grounds of Cheeky Beach at Pasar Wajo to the seamounts at Karang Kaledupa. For the best of both worlds, guests often combine a Pelagian cruise with a stay at Wakatobi Dive Resort.

"As usual, the standards on this boat never disappoint. The diving was breathtaking, the crew are simply awesome, the food and service on the Pelagian exceed expectations every time."

~ Simon Bowen and Kate Taylor, Jan 2023

The underwater environment

The islands of Wakatobi are blessed with unique underwater profiles that create exceptional diving experiences. Islands are flanked by fringing barrier reefs that drop to depths of 40 meters or more at distances of less than 100 meters from shore. There are also a number of offshore reef plateaus and sea mounds in the region that rise from the depths to create additional isolated areas of shallow marine habitat.

Next-Level Experiences

Reef tops which often rise to within a meter of the surface transition abruptly to precipitous walls and steep slopes that may be riddled with ledges and crevices. This juxtaposition of depth and shallows creates unique opportunities for extended multi-level dive profiles that can stretch for more than 70 minutes with no staged decompression obligation.

It's Clear To See

Excellent water clarity allows divers to take in the full scope of the underwater terrain, while the intricate nature of the reefs creates habitat for a wide range of marine life, including numerous cryptic and rare species, while adjacent blue waters attract large schools of fish.

Great Diving Starts Here

Wakatobi is blessed with more than 50 mapped and named dive sites that fall within a short distance of the resort. The reefs around Wakatobi are actually continuous, so sites are just starting points on the reef chosen for a signature landmark or the marine life often encountered in the area.

What's in a Name

Each site at Wakatobi has its own story, and its own unique cast of characters. The coral-encrusted slope known as Zoo takes its name from the tremendous variety of macro subjects found in this area, while Fan Garden is named for the extensive groves of sea fans that cover the area's slopes and walls. Magnifica features a steep slope that explodes with life, and Spiral Corner is covered with intricately spiraling growths of wire coral that extend from this outcropping on the reef.

Rings, Roses and Knife Edges

Roma is identified by a fringing ring of potato coral that is said to resemble the Colosseum in Rome. It's also the location of a large, circular colony of turbinaria coral with sculpted leaf-like folds that look like giant rose flower. The famous site known as Blade is a tall, thin series of sea mounts set along a ridge rising from blue water depths. When seen in profile, this formation resembles the blade of a serrated knife complete with giant sponges, sea fans, corals and colorful crinoids sitting atop it all.

The underwater environment

Guests who prefer to stay shallow or enjoy the relaxing freedoms of snorkeling also have access to vast areas of the Wakatobi marine reserve. What truly sets Wakatobi apart from other diving and snorkeling destinations is the abundance of sites where divers and snorkelers can share the underwater experience. Snorkelers often have the option of exploring shallow areas of the reef or hovering on the edge of walls and slopes, where clear waters let them watch divers below.

Shallow Water Paradise

Directly in front of the resort beach is the famous Wakatobi House Reef. It's been named the world's best shore dive and snorkeling experience. All guests need to do to experience the House Reef is wade in from the beach or walk to the ladder toward the end of the resort jetty. Here, they will find undulating seagrass meadows and shallow coral formations rich in marine life. A few fin kicks further, the shallows transition to steep slopes and a wall just 80 meters/230 feet from the shore.

Wakatobi is an especially attractive option for novice snorkelers, as they can progress at their own pace at a site that is monitored from shore. The same goes for youngsters, who can hone their water skills in the company of parents or a personal guide. And because the site is also a favorite with divers, its underwater treasures can be shared by those who wear tanks and those who don't. When snorkelers are ready to venture farther from the resort, they are not shunted into a separate craft and sent to a separate shallow reef. Instead, snorkelers join divers aboard the resort's boats.

At a vast majority of Wakatobi dive sites, snorkelers have the option of exploring shallow areas of the reef or hovering on the edge of walls and slopes, where clear waters let them watch divers below.

Marine life

The islands of Wakatobi are surrounded by some of the most bio-diverse coral reefs on the planet. This region, known as the “coral triangle,” is home to more than 450 varieties of hard and soft corals, 3,000-plus species of fish and several thousand more types of invertebrate animals. With thousands of species living on Wakatobi’s protected reefs and shallows, divers, snorkelers and photographers have near-endless opportunities to seek out, observe and document the region’s rich diversity of life.

Lively at Every Level

Reef tops are covered in schools of multi-hued anthias, walls are patrolled by turtles, rays and bumphead parrotfish, while trevally, jacks and snappers congregate around pinnacles. Overhangs provide shelter for lobsters, eels and a host of nocturnal fish species that spend the daylight hours in the shadows. Giant barrel sponges hide tiny treasures like porcelain crabs, while sea fans are home to a menagerie of cryptic shrimp, wrasses, and seahorses.

Small Treasures

Wakatobi provides an ideal environment for pygmy seahorses to thrive, and it was only recently that this group of tiny creatures became known to science; most significantly, four of the seven known species are regularly seen in Wakatobi, and were discovered nearby in the past decade. Unlike their larger cousins, the pygmy seahorses live only on coral reefs, and in many cases on a single species of gorgonian sea fans, which are found in abundance on the reefs at Wakatobi.

The Pier Group

Diving and snorkeling around the resort jetty is an ideal way to find numerous varieties of colorful anemones and their attendant clownfish. A closer look along the upper lip of the drop off at the far end of the pier will reveal stonefish, moray eels, blue-spotted stingrays, crocodilefish, cuttlefish, ghost pipefish, jawfish, shrimp and goby pairs, and more.

See It in the Sea Grass

The vast seagrass meadows surrounding Wakatobi provide hours of marine life viewing. Cuttlefish and squid patrol singly or in roving packs. Closer looks may reveal a juvenile eel slithering among the stalks or a young, blue-spotted stingray hovering close to the bottom. Octopus lurk in the meadows, but it can take a keen eye to discover these masters of camouflage. Even closer looks reveal a whole new level of life, with shrimp and crabs moving about, while colorful nudibranchs make their slow, slithering way across the seabed. A closer look at what at first may seem like a random bit of debris might reveal a pipefish or seahorse.
